About us...

We are a London Stock Exchange listed (LSE: CGEO LN, market capitalization of US$ 0.5bn), largest Georgia-based investment group with a portfolio of companies across various sectors

Our portfolio of investments consists of LSE premium listed companies: Bank of Georgia (Financial Services) and Georgia Healthcare Group (Healthcare - a holding company of EVEX, GPC, ABC and Imedi L), as well as private companies: m2 Real Estate (Hospitality and Real Estate), Georgia Global Utilities (Utility and Renewable Energy), Aldagi (Insurance), Teliani Valley (Beverage), Greenway (Car Technical Inspection), Amboli (Car Services), Education business and Redberry (Start-up Incubator and Digital Marketing).

The Group is well positioned to capture growth opportunities in a number of underdeveloped markets given Georgia's fast-growing economy.

Georgia Capital's business includes the elements of private equity fund and the functions cover the following activities:

- evaluating the investment opportunities and preparing investment cases
- structuring of investment allocations to group investment businesses
- analysis of company's investments
- market research
- business development, including new investments (greenfield and acquisitions) and exit strategies (strategic sale and IPO)
- project management
- raising debt and equity financing for the group through private placements and capital market transactions – both debt and equity
- managing outside and internal due diligences
- working with lenders and communicating with investors
- oversight of portfolio companies and working with portfolio companies to drive value creation.

About the role...

Since 2016, as part of Investment Officer recruitment process, our company successfully recruited over 25 young talents who joined the group in the capacity of Investment Officers, as well as at various positions in portfolio companies as CFO, head of finance, senior analyst, etc. In their capacity, they contribute greatly to the development of the group.

Investment Officers gain exposure to all the group's businesses and acquire experience in fields of finance, project management, marketing, sales and communications, Investment Officers provide support in carrying out all or some combination of investment functions. Investment Officers work collaboratively with senior members of the group management team as well as the portfolio companies and participate in meetings and discussions about business performance, strategy and business development. They play an important role in Georgia Capital's investment activities. Investment Officers report to the Chief Investment Officer.

In addition, Investment Officers will benefit from a comprehensive, multi-week induction (training) program in the headquarters of the group and the portfolio companies that is designed to introduce the group strategy, values and operations, and serve as group-wide networking platform.
